

Figure 1 displays seven box plots, labeled 1 through 7, arranged vertically. Each plot shows a distribution of data. The distributions are centered around a value that increases from 1 to 7. The spread (interquartile range and overall range) of the data also increases as the label number increases. The box plots are shaded in a gradient from light gray (1) to dark gray (7).